

Mission Critical Activities

There are certain activities that your department must provide the university as part of your mission. Some activities need to continue no matter what event interrupts services and other services can be stopped and/or delayed until interruptions have been restored.

The following is a list of your department's mission critical activities and/or critical business processes, together with a brief description of the business process and main dependencies. (Each of these activities/processes will need continuations/work around strategies)
